

2025 (4th) China Copper Week

At present, the complex global circumstances show complexity and severity that have never been more prominent. The strong counter-force of anti-globalization, trade protection and unilateralism have continued to rise, affecting the established framework of international cooperation and multilateral order. The competition between major countries has intensified, geopolitical tensions have escalated, the global governance system faces serious challenges. The trust deficit has widened, consumer expectations are weak, and the willingness of international coordination and cooperation has been significantly undermined. The global economic pattern is experiencing a deep and profound remodeling.

In this context, China's copper industry, as a traditional industry, strategic new industry and an important support industry for future sustainable development is showing good development resilience and potential. With the demand of accelerated adjustment of traditional growth model and industrial chain distribution in the re-balance between efficiency and security, openness and autonomy, regionalization and localization trend is becoming increasingly significant, the industrial structure transformation and upgrade is still facing great challenge.

With the purpose of continuing to explore new trends in the development of the world copper industry, accelerate China's copper industry towards new goals, and create a new situation of high-quality development with breakthroughs, greater developments and potentials, 2025 (4th) China Copper Week organized by Beijing Antaika Information Technology Co., Ltd. is scheduled to be held in Xiong'an, Hebei from September 24-26, 2025.
